IN MEMORIUM

In 1899, Bro. Albert left France for Japan. For 41 years, he taught the youth of the Kaisei Gakuen in Nagasaki. It took the shuddering impact of World War II to bring him to St. Joseph College. Bro. Albert remained at S. J. C. until Our Almighty Father called him for his eternal rest.

Dear Graduates of the 70th Anniversary Class,

Yours is the privilege to be the Graduating Class of St. Joseph's in this Anniversary Year. This present special Yearbook (your work) is evidence of your pride over this fact let alone your cooperation in the other 70th Anniversary projects. CONGRATULATIONS! and our THANKS! for the good work done. Your Alma Mater is also proud of you.

Later, when you get into your college studies, you will note your stamina and progress in coping with the intensive programs before you and will then more maturely look back gratefully to the so called "tough" grind experienced here at St. Joseph's scholastically and disciplinewise. Undoubtedly, you will realize at that time more than you do now how it was all to your own good. It is because your Teachers envisioning you as the SJC men of tomorrow wherever you may be, truly endeavor to harden you for the paths ahead.

The renaissance of this twentieth century has blossomed richly in the decade of the sixties in its culture, in all the sciences, and especially in its social revolution that is still ensuing. Already there are indications that in this decade of the seventies, this renaissance will achieve its zenith with you right in the middle of it.

Your Alma Mater has already sensed this great challenge for you, and, as mentioned, has consequently been putting you through the paces to be able to meet it. Your Retreat Master, Father James Mifsud, S.M., proposed the keynotes: a true self-analysis and a sincere thoughtfulness for your neighbor. The example of examples, however, in this respect is your former beloved Art Teacher, the late Brother Albert Bletzacker, S.M., by the way he lived for God and neighbor during his 96 years.

May this spirit of St. Joseph's guide you and be with you always. God love you!

Francis W. Gerber, S.M.

THE HISTORY OF SAINT JOSEPH COLLEGE

Ever since the birth of religion, various religious institutions have sent missionaries to different parts of the world. The purpose of these missionaries was not only to convert people of different religions, but to also set up schools and to provide educational facilities for the young. This is one of the most important values of missionary work: to spread the possibility of education.

In 1887 one such religious group, the Marianists of the Order of the Society of Mary, sent a few volunteers to Japan. The first schools of the Marianists were the Gyosei in Tokyo, the Kaisei in Nagasaki, and the Meisei in Osaka, all Japanese schools. Then, in 1901, to accommodate the children of the steadily increasing foreign community in Japan, Marianist brothers came to Yokohama to start another boys' school. Yokohama was the most obvious place to have a school because, in accordance with a previous law made when Japan was just opening to Gaijins, foreigners were permitted only to live in Yokohama in a special area, which the British referred to the Bluff. (Though this law was revoked a long time ago, as a result of it a significant majority of the foreign community still resides in this area.) And so, boarding at 44 Bluff, the site of the Sacred Heart Cathedral, the Marianist brothers began the institution which exists today: Saint Joseph College.

In the earlier days of Saint Joseph College, most of the brothers were of the Alsace-Lorraine region in France, and up to the time of World War One all the students spoke both English and French fluently. As is today, the student body then was also composed of international backgrounds. The only difference between then and now is that those days there were no Japanese pupils and, there were only a small number of Chinese who attended to better their proficiency in English.

In 1907, finding not enough room to accommodate the students at 44 Bluff, the school moved to 85 Bluff, where it is presently located. Previous to its becoming a school area, 85 Bluff was the address of the Maple Hotel. The hotel was bought with other neighboring property and houses, and all this became the school campus. However, since there was no sports field yet at school, athletic activities were conducted at the Yokohama Country and Athletic Club, a country club for foreign residents in Japan which had a large soccer field. By 1910 sports were already an important element at Saint Joseph College. An interesting point is that one of the first soccer teams in Japan was the one at Gyosei.

At 3 minutes before noon on September 1923, disaster struck the school and the rest of Yokohama—the Great Kanto Earthquake. With the exception of four or five buildings, all of Yokohama was demolished flat to the ground. Miraculously there were no casualties at all at school, a fact which can be greatly appreciated considering that at a neighboring girls' school, the school of Saint Maur run by a group of nuns, 12 nuns and forty children were killed. Having no place to stay, all foreigners left Yokohama taking their children with them. There was no building, no student body, and therefore no school. The brothers, looking for a place to stay, went to Kobe where they were taken care of immediately.

On October 1, exactly one month after the earthquake, the brothers restarted school for the children of foreigners in Kobe, using the first and second floors of a grade school in the town of Sumiyoshi which the municipality had lent them. In addition to these classrooms, the brothers rented two private houses to be used as accommodations for themselves and the boarders. Two years later, in 1925, the brothers moved back to Yokohama; things were somewhat restored by then. The top floor of the new building, which had been built before the earthquake was rebuilt, and by June of 1925 there were 111 boys back at school. For the time being the girls of the school of Saint Maur used the third floor classrooms because none of their buildings were rebuilt yet; and so, for the first time in the history of Saint Joseph College, an air of coeducation pervailed.

The foreign community kept on increasing and so did the number of students. The buildings of Saint Maur were rebuilt and the girls moved back. Then, in 1927, the construction of the building which exists today started. At that time the total school property consisted of two levels of ground, one five meters higher than the other. To erect the building a pit of about ten meters was dug, and in here the building was constructed. This was very strange at first because for the time being one could see into the second story classrooms from the playground.

The whole area was then dug and levelled to make it flat enough for a playground. All the excess earth was used to help fill up the area of sea where Yamashita Park is today. A small playshed, used as a gymnasium, was built where Chaminade Hall and the audio-visual center stand today, and by 1928 all buildings and levelling was completed.

During the years 1938 to 1940 was threatened. The consuls of various countries warned their citizens to leave Japan, and consequently the students of Saint Joseph College all left save for a handfull. Nonetheless, the school stayed open. When the war broke out, the Kempei (similar to Germany's Gestapo) came to the school to pick up the two American Marianist brothers that were there. They were allowed to take a lunch with them, but after that they were interred at the Negishi Golf-course and race-track until a prisonner-of-war exchange in 1943.

1930: View of school entrance

All foreigners were looked upon as spies because, ironically enough, they all lived on the Bluff—a hilly area—where they could see the harbour and spot any ships coming in or out. In effect, all foreigners were ordered to leave the Bluff and as a result the school closed down.

When the school grounds were deserted, the Japanese navy, air force, and army each wanted the building for their own use. A general council was held in Tokyo and after some debate the air force gained control of the grounds. And so the school was for the first time not a school, but an airplane research center.

1923: School garden with snow

1927: Construction began

Unable to stay on the Bluff any longer the brothers were given a set alternative places to go. One of them was situated in Honmoku, but luckily they did not move there, for had they done so they would have all burned alive during a later air-raid. In September, 1943, they moved to the Gora Park Hotel in Hakone, which had fourteen rooms. Undaunted by current events, the brothers started school in the hotel for foreign children in Hakone. The school managed to have all twelve grades, consisting of both girls and boys. The largest classes were the third and fifth grades, having five children each. Despite the hardships involved in wartime situations, two people managed to graduate during the war, and the school continued at Gora until the Japanese surrender in 1945.

1921: Typhoon damage

1913: School entrance

Nonetheless, though the community spirit was of a superlative nature, things did not become any better, the war dragged on, and 1944 found twenty five starving brothers in Gora Park Hotel. Food was rationed to an unrealistic minimum and five brothers died. Of the food that existed, a large percentage would start to decay after being stored for half a day; if it had not been for the sympathy of some farmers all the brothers would have surely starved to death.

In addition to the worsening food situation, worries were increased by constant harassment of the Kempei. Restrictions were enforced everywhere, and all actions and freedoms were limited—the foreigners were not allowed to even wink, yet alone speak, to a Japanese. The Kempei were well noted for arresting foreigners and beating them until they admitted to being spies.

1922: Field Day

When the Japanese surrendered in 1945, the brothers moved back to Yokohama. All the school buildings were deserted and much was destroyed as an enemy installation by the invading forces of MacArthur; also, much looting had been done by certain enterprising individuals. When the Americans first came, they took numerous documentary films of the emaciated skeletons of the brothers to show the world the injustices of war; but for three months the brothers received no food, clothing, medicine or any kind of help. This of course, is understandable, considering that there were hundreds of others in a similar predicament. Finally, in November, the Red-Cross distributed food packages among all the foreigners.

At first, the American occupational forces wanted to use the school as a hospital—this was because the Japanese had disguised their airplane research center by recording it officially as a hospital. However, there were machines and airplane parts lying all around the soccer field to disprove this theory, and the brothers got back the school. In June, 1946 sixty workers were sent to the school by the occupational forces to restore it to a functional condition, and by September 13th all was rebuilt.

Thirty foreign children had signed a petition asking that the school be reopened. On October 14, it was decided that the school would reopen the next day; at 9 o'clock there were twenty-five children at school; at 10 o'clock there were fifty, and by the end of the week there were three-hundred students, both boys and girls because Saint Maur's was again rendered inactive; and so, for a second time Saint Joseph College was coeducational.

During the first year that it reopened, the school had only mathbook for the teacher and an English reader for each student. Later, however, tons of books came from donations in San Francisco and Hawaii.

As things became better, the number of students increased, and much to their regret, the girls of Saint Maur had to go back to their original location. From then on things returned to normal at school, and, up to today, the school has progressed in its educational facilities and scholastic and athletic achievements.

FACULTY

SJC

1901 ~ 1971

BRO. NORBERT KLEINHENZ—An indication of the energetic and lively personality of Bro. Norbert can be seen in his appearance. Bro. Norbert originally came to SJC from Cleveland for the purpose of revamping the business curriculum, but has found himself involved in many diverse courses displaying his various capabilities. Bro. Norbert is "impressed" and we return the compliment.

Treasurer
Bro. Norbert Kleinhenz, S.M.

Dean of Students
Mr. Larry E. Hackett

MR. LARRY HACKETT—Mr. Hackett is not at all the formidable person his countenace may suggest. He has in mind only what he thinks is best as evidenced by his concern for the student. Mr. Hackett's goal is to prepare his students for college type classes and responsibilities as well as instructing them in course material at hand. A more conscientious teacher would be hard to find.

BRO. GERMAIN VONDESCHER—Bro. Germain, SJC's historian, is a man who will live to be one hundred with a young heart and a sound intellect. His very appearance is often enough to cheer one up considerably. His extraordinary disposition combines with his fine sense of humor to make him everyone's favorite.

Maintenance
Bro. Germain Vonderscher, S.M.

BRO. PETER LINDEMAN—Behind Bro. Peter's quiet facade is an actively inquisitive mind and a serious yet gentle disposition. Bro. Peter is a firm believer in the experimental method, learning through experience. Under his tutelage, the acquisiton of knowledge then becomes easy. Through years of practical knowledge, he has found a workable marriage between the practical and the theoretical.

Homeroom 12

Bro. Peter Lindemann, S. M.

MR. DENNIS STAPLES—Mr. Staples is the embodiment of two great disciplines of man, higher mathematics and English. This well rounded individual fascinates his pupils with his own unique approach to education, a result of fresh attitude and deep personal interest. This teacher cum coach cum father is well liked and considered an "oracle" for tough problems.

Homeroom 10

Mr. Dennis Staples

BRO. BERNARD PLEIMAN—Bro. Pleiman is the master of masters when it comes to applying ingenuity, particularly when it comes to subjects, such as math, where concepts must applied with thought and not just understood. For this reason and his sincere willingness to work, he has been a colossal success as a teacher and homeroom tutor.

Homeroom 9

Bro. Bernard Pleimann, S. M.

BRO. JOSEPH WASY—Bro. Joseph, in his eleventh year as eighth grade homeroom, keeps busy preparing his students for high school in a most timely manner. Realizing that they must be well informed not only scholastically, he is interested in seeing that his students understand the contemporary problems they will face later on in the world of higher education. He enjoys the challenge of teaching today's eighth graders.

Homeroom 8

Bro. Joseph Wasy, S. M.

MRS. KAREN ANDERSON—The absolute value of a teacher can be said to be how much he or she has successfully taught or inspired. Mrs. Anderson, although exacting, "fills the bill." Although Mrs. Anderson requires full cooperation from her students, one can portray her as personable and pleasant, with more than enough interest to go around.

Homeroom 7

Mrs. Anderson

MR. CHRISTOPHER CHANG—A rare combination of collected yet vigorous and dynamic talent, Mr. Chang is the definition of the proverbial "nice guy." His results are acheived with a mixture of human interest and genuine concern. It is hoped that SJC will learn something from his model.

Homeroom 6

Mr. Christopher Chang

BRO. JOSEPH SCHEIBLE—Bro. Joseph's "chase of the wild boar" keeps the fifth grade in eager anticipation for the great adventures which Bro. Joseph has experienced. This energetic man keeps his charges at his heels as they try to keep up with his many expeditions, both in the classroom and the woods. A wonderful love of the outdoors as his fifth grade make him a revered teacher.

Homeroom 5

Bro. Joseph Scheible, S. M.

MISS ATSUKO KABAYAMA—A "natural", Miss Kabayama has easily persuaded her pupils that learning can be an enjoyable experience if approached in the proper manner. Her characteristic tenacity and vividness of explanation have enabled the fourth graders to obtain the most from the education they receive. It is hoped that such acheivements shall continue.

Homeroom 4

Miss Atsuko Kabayama

MR. ACHILLES DELLAPINA—Mr. Dellapina, chief of the seventh grade, is one who succeeds because of his no-nonsense attitude and his intention to get things done. Inspite of his forceful habits, he is able to make good progress in the education of his pupils as a result of his way of working with personalities.

Homeroom 3

Mr. Achille Dellapina

MRS. KAZUYO TAGUCHI: Miss Taguchi's heavy responsibility as homeroom teacher of the second grade and as instructor of many various subjects makes her one of the busiest lay teachers in the school. She conducts classes in a characteristic manner, encouraging her students to study hard.

Homeroom 2

Miss Kazuyo Taguchi

BRO. CHARLES LOEBIG: Bro. Charles is an integral part of the SJC grade school department, his way with first graders being nothing short of miraculous. For his students and himself alike school is a joy, something to be looked forward to, and endless experience. Few can measure up to his enthusiasm.

Homeroom 1

Bro. Charles Loebig, S. M.

BRO. LEO KRAFT: To the students of his religion classes, Bro. Leo is very understanding emphatic and above all influential. A second father to his students, he is Prefect of Berrick Hall and the school's Cubmaster. He is active and devoted to the grade school boys who are his direct concern.

Religion

Bro. Leo Kraft, S. M.

High School French

Mr. Arthur Stavrinaky

MR. ARTHUR STAVRINAKY—An authority on modern languages and the fine arts, Mr. Stavrinaky is a valuable asset to SJC. He is sincere not only as a man but in his desire to see his students learn. He successfully conveys the vast wealth of essential information he knows to his pupils with both kinds of interest. What with the mutual interest returned, his efforts have not been wasted.

High School English

Bro. Paul Forgach, S. M.

BRO. PAUL FORGACH—Having had much unique educational experience, Bro. Paul has been a tremendous addition to the SJC High School English department. Besides his intellectual capacity, which he hides behind a screen of (at times biting) humor, he has the good teachers ability to relate with his students. Inspite of his work his door is always open.

English

Miss Hiroko Matsunaga

MISS HIROKO MATSUNAGA: With her clear methods of explanation, Miss Matsunaga has bridged many difficulties with her students in their education of the English language stressing that knowledge alone is not the sesame to dexterity in language but Miss Matsunaga says that progress and growth is made in familiarity of youth.

MISS KEIKO NOSAKA: Miss Nosaka is a self-made person having educated herself into the intricacies of English. Now she is busy teaching her charges the same capacity for learning as well as knowledge itself. Such a system of positive attitudes and pedagogy can't fail!

Grade School

Miss Keiko Nosaka

BRO. JOHN SULLIVAN—A jovial fellow, Bro. John has that amazing faculty that evokes cooperation from all those with whom he is in contact. Using his keen intellect to the best possible advantage, Bro. John has introduced the Christian way of life to his religion students enabling them to live up to the best of their abilities.

live up to the best of their abilities.

Religion

Bro. John Sullivan

MRS. ELIZABETH BROENE—Always prodding, always initiating, Mrs. Broene communicates a part of her energy and inquisitiveness to her scholars, building and shaping that trait revered by all disciples of knowledge, intellectual curiosity. Her results are reaped daily in in the increased rapport between student and pupil.

Grade School

Mrs. Elizabeth Broene

DR. IQBAL SAIR, PH. D.: A mainstay of the science department, Dr. Sair has the heavy responsibility of educating his learners into the logic of science. A man who has proven his ability to adapt to any situation. Dr. Sair has shown again and again his ability as a science savant in practically any field. He is well liked because of his humor and perception.

Chemistry
Dr. Iqbal Sair, Ph. D.

MR. GERD TOMAN—Mr. Toman, head of the life-sciences department, has spent much of his time in the improvement of the biological sciences. His success has been largely due to his stimulation of interest in his field, as through the natural science club. Implemented by his bubbling enthusiasm, he has stirred the imagination of many a student.

Science
Mr. Gerd Toman

BRO. PAUL JABLINSKI—Back again, Bro. Paul has taken over the Art Department. Utilizing his creative talent, Bro. Paul has instigated enthusiasm and work in a wide variety of related subjects, from sand architecture to design to photography. An artist at heart, Bro. Paul has won many converts to his chosen field.

Art
Bro. Paul Jablinski, S. M.

BRO. CHARLES IMHOFF—The guardian of well being, Bro. Charles preaches love of life and nature. Although many of us remember him as our teacher or for his weekly promenades through Yokohama, we should not overlook the fact that he is dedicated to preparing us for the future through example as he has prepared generations in the past.

Science
Bro. Charles Imhoff, S. M.

BRO. CHARLES SCHERMESSER—Foremerly the typing instructor, Bro. Charles is presently the school librarian and one of the pillars of SJC. He is still educating himself, absorbing new wisdom. His warm smile and helpful hand have aided many a youthful seeker of wisdom.

Librarian
Bro. Charles Schermesser, S. M.

BRO. SANTOS MONTOYA—A man of great practical knowledge, Bro. Santos uses his store of useful experience and his natural pedalogical instinct to give a fully integrated education to his pupils in science and Spanish. Never at a loss for words, Bro. Santos.

High School Spanish
Bro. Santos Montoya, S. M.

MISS NORIKO SHIOYA—Although quiet and inconspicuous in her post as school librarian, Miss Shioya is super efficient as evidenced by the new organization of the library and the influx of new books (at last!) Miss Shioya has made the library a valuable asset and an invaluable tool.

Librarian
Miss Noriko Shioya

MR. SEISHIRO MATSUMOTO—Besides being physically strong and well coordinated, Mr. Matsumoto is also driving and dynamic, yet patient. He is the epitome of the physical educator, being able to instruct and strengthen while working off "tensions" received from schoolwork. Also judo and soccer coach, Mr. Matsumoto has outdone himself in contributing to SJC.

Gymnastics
Mr. Seishiro Matsumoto

MISS KYOKO NAKAJIMA—A "maker of melody" Miss Nakajima's job is to choir beautiful music from the throats of the students in her music classes. She has been successful, as you will find when listening to the finished product, such as the choir in The Slaughter of the Innocents. Her progress is steady, and with cooperation from the student body, we will soon have a magnificent choir.

Music
Miss Kyoko Nakajima

MR. KIYOSHI KOGA—Mr. Koga serves SJC this year in a new capacity in the person of the visual aids coordinator, itself a recent office. Mr. Koga is well suited to this position because of his good nature personality and his willingness to work, as he comes into contact frequently with most of the faculty and student body. Mr. Koga has a good future to share with SJC.

Visual-Aids Coordinator
Mr. Kiyoshi Koga

Mr. Mitsuo Amagasa
Although Mr. Amagasa possesses a quiet and sober personality, he seems to be naturally conveying his devoted enthusiasm in teaching, as well as learning through his "inside-out" explanation of the Japanese literature. One of his hobbies, "Shuji", which is Japanese character writing enables us to realize the balanced beauty of the Japanese characters, and have been a great aid to improve our writings. Another among his hobbies in which he attained the rank of 6 dan is Kendo. According to him, this has been a tremendous help to build up the old Japanese spirit of "Yamato Damashii," which he considers is valuable and salutary in every aspect of one's life.

Japanese
Mr. Mitsuo Amagasa

Mr. Ishibashi
With a fond smile, Mr. Ishibashi appears before the class each morning. His way of treating people brings the students close to him. Yet, Mr. Ishibashi is strict with regards to discipline. Through Japanese literature, Mr. Ishibashi implants in every individual, the right attitude toward the teachers and to his fellow peer group, thus preparing the boys to a higher level of education.

Japanese
Ichiro Ishibashi

Japanese
Mrs. Masa Nishimura

Mrs. Masa Nishimura

Mrs. Nishimura is a refined lady of genuine Japanese manners. Her tender and gentle mode of teaching undoubtedly efficient is also compassionate and flexible enough to mollify the defiant attitude of the rebellions. She does know how to handle the savage boys.

Japanese
Mrs. Ishi Yasuoka

Mrs. Ishi Yasuoka

All students are attracted by the mild enticing character of Mrs. Yasuoka. Her understanding of children's psychology won her their popularity. Besides being an admirable teacher, Mrs. Yasuoka is also a good friend to her boys.

Japanese
Mrs. Ume Aoki

Mrs. Ume Aoki

A venerable educator best describes Mrs. Aoki. Her ardor and enthusiasm for education surpass the ordinary fervor. She steadily leads her students through her energetic teaching.

THE GRADUATES

Cancemi Vincenzo Mario

Enzo Cancemi:

The great works of the 1971 SJC Welfare Committee were all created and organized through the plans of our little giant, Enzo. His versatility and active character led to his involvement in numerous extra-curricular activities including tennis, karate, and the sodality. Being the secretary of the senior class, he is the most popular guy with the best humor.

Nationality:	Italian
Years at S. J. C.:	9 years
Likes:	Scottie tissue paper, barefeet
Dislikes:	Term paper, mosquito, 7:20 in morning
Favorite possession:	Kagome notebook
Favorite place:	2nd floor of Ciel Bleu
Nickname:	Enzo
Ambition:	To be an idealist
Activities:	Tennis, Welfare Committee (chairman), Sodality, Karate, class officer, Forward Art Editor

Chen Chien-Min Jimmy

Jimmy Chen:

Jimmy was surely the best representative of the ideal SJC man. He is the real busy man with numerous important roles to handle. Besides leading the tennis club, Jimmy successfully managed to lead the social committee, to assist the Interact Club and the senior scouts, and take an active part in the Forward Staff.

His unselfishness and friendliness will always win him friends. Good luck to our future architect!

Nationality:	Great Britain
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	this world, tennis, homo sapiens, Jen
Dislikes:	Sickness
Favorite possession:	My nickel silver bracelet from Jen.
Favorite place:	Tennis court
Nicknames:	Blackie, Foot
Ambition:	To be an Architect
Activities:	Tennis (captain), Senior Scout (scribe), Social Committee (chairman), Interact Club, Leo Club, Forward Layout Editor

Chen Yu Koh

Yu Koh Chen:

Yu Koh, a fond lover of driving is a Senior entertainer and a sportsman. He loves to play basketball as well as bowling. Yu-chan is most happy when he is on his "Sunnny Coupe GX" driving through Motomachi with someone (?) beside him. Yu-chan will prove his ability in the near future as a versatile businessman.

Nationality:	Chinese
Years at S. J. C.:	6 years
Likes:	Rain
Dislikes:	Heavy make up of girls
Favorite possession:	Car (Sunny GX)
Favorite place:	Winter seashore
Nickname:	Kunichan
Ambition:	To be an owner of a restaurant
Activities:	Interact Club, Judo, Basketball

Chu Hen-Hao Henry

Henry Chu:

Henry, a quiet but an observant one has an independent and a well-determined mind which produces confidential remarks. Never dropping out from the Honor Roll, he has proven his sound mind. On the other hand, he enjoys his life playing tennis, skiing, etc. . . .

A success is foreseen in his college life and the years to come. Good luck to our future doctor!

Nationality:	Chinese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	People, skiing, tennis, music
Dislikes:	People, Dax, hairy caterpillar
Favorite possession:	Myself
Favorite place:	Quelque part avec elle
Nickname:	Mugen boy, orange peel
Ambition:	To be a medical doctor
Activities:	Tennis, class officer

Chu Ying Ming Gregory

Gregory Chu:

Greg is a very hard working student, his diligence winning trust of everyone. He does his best in all activities in which he is involved. Quick were his works but they are also sure. He participated in many activities in which he could utilize his talents. Such included the senior scout, the tennis team, the welfare committee and sodality.

Nationality:	Chinese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Genuineness
Dislikes:	"The school"......?, winter
Favorite possession:	My thinking process
Favorite place:	Eight Gods Temple
Nickname:	?
Ambition:	Businessman of international cargo transportation
Activities:	Tennis, Interact Club, Welfare Committee, Senior Scout (Group Leader) Forward Assistant Editor

Da Silva Reinaldo J

Reinaldo DaSilva:

Reinaldo is an expert in photography. His professional skill made him a chairman of the photo club. Like all good photographers he is quiet and distinguished. Somehow he controlled all the savage members of the photo club.

Above all Reinaldo preferred taking pictures of good old steam locomotives. One can always find him in the right spot with a camera and several rolls of film.

Nationality:	Portuguese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Cameras, railroads, travelling
Dislikes:	Printing pictures of people, waiting in lines for hours
Favorite possession:	my railroad triple R
Ambition:	Engineer
Activities:	Photo Club, Interact Club, Sodality, Spiritual Committee (chairman)

Daswani Mahesh Bhagwan

Mahesh Daswani:

An established international businessman was Mahesh. Not only is he an "homme d'affair" but also an Indian playboy. His specialities, Indian music, photography, spontaneous jokes, and the various skills always attract everyone.

He always enjoys life, being both a gentleman and an ostrogoth. A success in business is his promised future.

Nationality:	Indian
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Driving, photography, listening to music
Dislikes:	Taxi drivers in Japan
Favorite possession:	Life
Favorite place:	Miyanoshita Fujiya Hotel
Nickname:	Gandhi
Ambition:	Businessman
Activities:	Sodality, Photo Club, Interact Club

Duffy Stephen Francis

Stephen Duffy:

Steve has been the leader of the class throughout the full-twelve years spent at Saint Joseph College. Moreover, he has become the leader of the entire school, serving as the president of the Student Council. His interest and talent in law and politics made him an able officer.

Even though he is such a busy man, he enjoys skiing, horseback riding, and photography. His rough play during the gym class should be noted. The whole senior class, rather, the whole school is much indebted to Steve for what he has accomplished.

Nationality:	American
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Travelling, skiing, good books and people
Dislikes:	Snakes and other assorted crawling creatures
Ambition:	Undecided
Nickname:	King Rat
Activity:	Student Council (President)
	Sodality, Senior Scouts, Interact Club, Photo Club

Hake Joseph Lee

Joe Hake:

Joe is one of the "motorcycle fiends" of the senior class. Besides steering his favorite bike, Joe enjoys playing basketball as a member of the team. He usually spents the winter in the mountains of Shiga skiing. Playing his guitar is the only peaceful hobby he has.

Joe, as an active class representative with unique ability, worked hard in bringing the latest news reports from the Student Council.

Nationality: American
Years at S. J. C.: 5 years
Likes: Motorcycling, snowmobile, traveling
Dislike: Conformity
Favorite possession: Honda CL 250
Favorite place: Shiga
Nickname: Snake
Ambition: Electrical engineer
Activities: Student Council Representative, Basketball, Photo Club,

Hirukawa Masahiko

Masahiko Hirukawa:

Masa is a very stylish guy. Although unconspicuous, he is extremely wild and sporty (?). His overwhelming energy can be seen on the soccer field where he unmasks himself as an able varsity player on the soccer team.

His adaptability, frank and flexible character will support Masa regardless of his environment.

Nationality:	Japanese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Summer, black, dogs
Dislikes:	Rainy days
Favorite possession:	T. Monk albums
Favorite place:	Gym locker room
Nickname:	Masa
Ambition:	To travel unknown places
Activities:	Soccer, Interact Club

Hsieh Arthur

Arthur Hsieh:

Arthur's appreciation and love of music, especially in jazz, are well-known. Also readily noticeable is his favor of the aesthetics and things delicate. Highly americanized, his actions are the results of his sociability and modern sensitiveness. It is quite difficult to satisfy his noble taste.

Arthur is undoubtedly the best entertainer in the senior class. His jovial and bright character is one which we can hardly forget.

Nationality:	Chinese
Years at S. J. C.:	11 years
Likes:	"My Funny Valentine"
Dislikes:	Byrd's Syncopation
Favorite possession:	My life
Favorite place:	Any place under the sun
Nickname:	Archie
Ambition:	To go to the moon
Activities:	Tennis, Senior Scout, Karate

Isaka Harry Yoshiharu

Harry Isaka:

After school hours, the real Harry shows up from behind his screen of protective coloration with the help of his quant twin passenger, two wheeled, fossil fueled transportation vehicle. A person whose philosophy insists that he know something about everything worth knowing. Harry is easy to get along with. A motorcycle buff of the first magnitude, he always has some scheme, scheme hatching to make his go gaster. Without a doubt, he will turn out to be a man of the world with real attachment to the world.

Nationality:	Japanese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Motorcycles, aircraft, tinkering
Dislikes:	Praying mantis, haircut, selfish people
Favorite possession:	My stars and stripes helmet
Favorite place:	Hakone
Ambition:	To be a mechanic
Activity:	Photo Club

Kawashima Yoshio

Yoshio Kawashima:

"Immigrant from Arabia" attended SJC for four years. During these years his gentle personality enabled him to obtain countless number of friends. In the field of sports, his athletic ability made him one of the best players on the soccer team. His constructive working character can be seen in his actions, as the chairman of HackCo Research Committee and the leading member of the Inter-Club of Interact Club.

After graduation he plans to attend Sophia University where he will study Business Administration and work for a large company. Good luck Yoshio!

Nationality:	Japanese
Years at S. J. C.:	4 years
Likes:	Sports, nature
Dislikes:	Sarcastic people, beer
Favorite possession:	Field jacket
Favorite place:	Soccer ground
Ambition:	Businessman
Activities:	Soccer, Sodality, Interact Club

Koyama Kenji Peter

Kenji Koyama:

Kenji is a typical intellectual student. Though he very rarely speaks up, one cannot miss his words of wisdom. His disposition, though hidden under his modesty was revealed through his actions.

Kenji is an able athlete, participating in some soccer and judo and helping the senior class by taking an active part in the intramural program.

Nationality:	Japanese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Freedom, blue sky
Dislikes:	School, its administration & teachers
Favorite possession:	Car-license
Favorite place:	Nihon Alps
Nickname:	Ken
Ambition:	Electronic engineer
Activities:	Judo, Interact Club

Kresge Charles T.

Charles Kresge:

No one will probably realize that Charlie is one of the late comers of the class. His enthusiasm and devotion for the class and for the school are outstanding, even among the ones who attended SJC for the full-twelve years. His friendliness and spirit quickly won him popularity and the position of the class presidency for the second semester.

Charlie was an active member of the tennis team as well as the photo club.

Nationality:	American
Years at S. J. C.:	2 years
Favorite place:	New England
Nickname:	Chuck
Ambition:	To travel
Activities:	Tennis, Baseball, Photo Club, Chronicle, Student Council, Stamp Club, Senior Class President

Liem Ronco Yaobing

Ronco Liem:

No one can top Ronco in the fields of psychology and philosophy. His deep attachment to such studies built up his analytical mind and subtle penetration. Though mentally detached from "our" world, Ronco fully enjoys driving his beloved murdercycle. He also loves skiing down the slopes of Shiga.

Ronco does his best to live up to his reputation. He will surely become an enlightened philosopher.

Nationality:	Netherlands
Years at S. J. C.:	4 years
Likes:	Shrimp cocktail, a full gas tank, a full wallet
Dislikes:	Pink dots on green stripes, an empty gas tank, "being cooped-up"
Favorite possession:	Tapedeck
Favorite place:	Girlfriend's house
Nicknames:	Ronx, Bronco
Ambition:	To write
Activities:	Student Council Representative, Staff Writer

McNeill Steven Henry

Steven McNeill:

Steve likes any accelerating vehicle from a jet plane to a motorcycle. His knowledge in such matters is astonishing. He usually drives his favorite cycle up and down the area on the weekends. Otherwise, he is busy practicing basketball. As the surest basketmaker, he was a pillar of the SJC basketball team.

Fully aware of his talents, Steve intends to go into aeronautics.

Nationality:	American
Years at S. J. C.:	4 years
Likes:	Stereo
Dislikes:	Scratched records
Favorite possession:	My five senses
Favorite place:	The sky
Nickname:	Smac
Ambition:	To see the world
Activities:	Basketball, Photo Club, Natural Science Club

Moosa Johnny Mikami

Johnny Moosa:

Johnny is the math genius of the senior class. He is an infallible computer when he comes upon any numerical problem. Though small in stature, he is a dauntless fighter when he is playing in the soccer game. His hard working character can be seen in his actions, as the chairman of the sports committee and the leader of the senior scouts.

Johnny's belle voix which all heard through the P.A. system every morning cannot be forgotten.

Nationality:	Japanese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Listening & producing music, soccer, mahjong
Dislikes:	Caterpillars, unreliable teachers
Favorite possession:	Pair of military shoes
Favorite place:	A quiet place where I can think
Nickname:	Moose
Ambition:	College
Activities:	Senior Scout (leader), Sports Committee (chairman), Soccer, Forward Staff treasurer

Nishikawa Rex Yozo

Rex Nishikawa:

An enthusiastic personality, a good sense of organization and a willingness to work (every now and then) has made Rex's services great demand. Particularly useful now and most certainly in the future are his business talents. Also an ardent sportsman, Rex's skill in tennis skiing and other sports remains to be equaled. For these reasons, Rex's future, although certainly challenging and not always easy, will see him a fantastic success. (Except for one thing, he's always loosing his glasses.)

Nationality:	Japanese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Winter mountain, sports
Dislikes:	Haircut, alburn hair, Revlon Intimate
Favorite possession:	Head Steel Racket w/ Austrian gut
Favorite place:	Izu
Nickname:	Waru
Ambition:	Mechanical engineer
Activities:	Tennis, Interact Club (President), Sports Committee, Forward Business Manager

So Jacinto Lee

Jacinto So:

"Irrelevant, incompetent and immaterial!" Is it a lawyer? Is it a sharp businessman? Is it an ex-convict? No! its Jacinto So!!! who someday may be all three. Jacinto's interjections and arguments are a pleasant interruption in the stress and strain of daily work. He is willing and able to render aid to those of his classmates in distress even at cost of his own time. A lover of sweet things, such as candy, and powerful things such as automobile (he has his own) our very own jet-setter, Jacinto, is a friend to one and all.

Nationality:	Filipino
Years at S. J. C.:	2 years
Likes:	Music, sitar, summer—winter
Dislikes:	Busy work, traffic
Favorite possession:	My car (Corolla)
Favorite place:	Elise
Nickname:	Jun
Ambition:	Businessman
Activities:	Interact Club, Sodality, Photo Club

Suwa George Patrick

George Suwa:

A man of many talents and possessing a love of the aesthetic (such as music, meditation and girls), George is well suited to become a reknown Cassanova. However, his inclinations are of a more noble character. Briming with originality, George is able to do many novel things, such as playing a guitar with two strings. A zealous sportsman, as evidenced by his co-captaincy on the soccer team, George has a well rounded personality. Not unintelligent he has invented his own sport, hunting the female species of the homo sapiens.

Nationality: Japanese
Years at S. J. C.: 12 years
Likes: popcorn.
Dislikes: Selfishness
Favorite possession: Friends
Favorite place: Forward Room
Nickname: SJC Gentleman
Ambition: To make everyone happy
Activities: Soccer, Social Committee, Interact Club (committee), Forward Editor, class officer

Takahashi Wallace Yoshito

Wallace Takahashi:

Whether it be bowling, ham radio or photography, Wallace always succeeds in what he has decided to accomplish. His unalterable energy is applied constantly along a programmed path of action resulting in his nickname, "the Machine". A self-made expert in many fields, Wallace spends much of his time perfecting himself and teaching these same skill to others. A considerate yet quiet person by nature typified by one of his hobbies, fishing, Wallace will find all doors open to him because of his sincerity.

Nationality:	Japanese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Warmth, sleeping
Dislikes:	Waking up in the morning, spider, studying
Favorite possession:	Money
Favorite place:	Bed
Nickname:	Machine
Ambition:	To be a very successful and a happy man
Activity:	Photo Club (chairman)

Umemoto Edward Haruo

Edward Umemoto:

The leader of the SJC sports world, Ume's prowess as an athlete will not be quickly forgotten. A varsity soccer and baseball player, his natural ability and developed physique enables him to excel in practically all other sports. His wide interests may be seen in his pastimes. He is a fisherman of great fame, and a quasi-professional Pachinko player.

A person of genial atmosphere and easy to get along with, Ume has certainly found his place in life.

Nationality:	Japanese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Baseball, fishing, truth
Dislikes:	Untasty foods, dishonesty, flattery
Favorite possession:	My old baseball glove
Favorite place:	Hokkaido, the place where I'm living
Ambition:	To go to Africa
Activities:	Soccer (captain)

Wu Chin Tang

Chin Tang Wu:

Like a crow perched on a telephone wire, Ton Ton hardly comments during class hours. Once the school is over, he regularly leads the Karate Team as a captain and bares his cloaked leopard-like ferocity and speaks words of wisdom in the Interact Club meetings. One of the few truely magnificent sights in Yokohama you can not fail to miss is Ton Ton's dilapidated CB 125 Honda.

Nationality:	Chinese
Years at S. J. C.:	12 years
Likes:	Vacation, bowling, movie
Dislikes:	Those who hate me, term paper, homework
Favorite possession:	Rado Diastar 8 No. G82363
Favorite place:	Renshinkan Yokohama Headquarter Dōjo
Nickname:	Ton Ton
Activities:	Karate (captain), Interact Club

Grafton Ronald Earl

Ronald Grafton:

A genius junior grade (IQ of 200-up) Ronald (of red face fame) has a broad background from which he can prepare himself for any contingency. When all this added to his "gift of gab," our portrait of Ronald shows him to be vivacious, and amicable, a "real nice guy". Always ready with a retort (what kind, history will tell) Ronald is in high gear wherever he goes and whatever he does. His ability to adapt will enable him to face any situation without qualms (I already said that).

Nationality:	American
Years at S. J. C.:	1½ years
Likes:	Skiing, sailing, cycling, Terri A.
Dislikes:	Grownups' mistrust ef cycles, flat tires, midi skirts
Favorite possession:	My Kawasaki 500
Favorite place:	My window
Nickname:	Chorro
Activity:	Senior class president

"ACTION"

DESTROYER NO. 1

" No more English, no more French ;
No more sitting on the hard school bench,"
Echoes through the halls again.

Yes, school is out, worries over,
Until next term in September,
And all can relax until school has rebegun.
Well, nearly everyone,
For at this time of the year the world around
Are ex-twelfthgraders, alone and unknown.

The time has come for some to get old,
And now provoked is that dilemma many times retold:
Applications for Admission Transcripts and Recommendations.
" Have they been received? when will I get my answer?"
Wring the hands of those who have decided to continue Scholastic education.

How will I get a job?" what will I do?"
Wonder others, confused and troubled too.
And then there are those-just-a-few who are aloof,
And scornful of those who continue the game.
Those poor, lost souls crying " Give us truths,
For we are weary of surfaces."
Fools they are, for hunger will force them
To feed themselves and endure society's curses.

All lost and many naturally nostalgic,
Yearning already for the goodolddays.
" Remember the time when..." and " Wasn't it something..."
And " He wasn't such a bad coot afterall;"
Cliches both pleasant and tragic.

Yes, it was easy, wasn't it then,
To just (?) study, and live off your old man.
The issues aud cause of past are now mere memories,
Punishment, Suspension, Termpapers-dead,
And regarded in the same mean as lost calories.
But still-what's to be done?
Good luck and all that boys,
(Aren't we going to have fun?")

But halt, cast not such a gloomy eye,
There's such a thing as future to show,
(Though what it is we do not know.)
Live in it, then, I say:
Life is life for some as a game,
As sure as a rose is a rose by no other name.
You can win, you can lose,
You can laugh, you can cry,
But never may you ever choose
To run away and forever hide.

RYL

"SENIOR WILLS"

I, Enzo, leave my Japanese Government score to Mr. Hackett and my pre-eminent sense of humor to the rest of the Welfare Committee members. One more...my brilliant eyes to John Lin.

I, J. C., will leave my snotty tie to Maggie.

I, Yu Kuo, bequeath my manliness to Naitoh.

I,Greg, leave my old tennis racket with only the horizontal strings to George Foster and my originality to the Welfare Committee of 1972.

I, Henry, give 9.8 newtons of thin-sliced, fried, crispy, dainty, and spicy Solanum tuberosum to Dr. Sair.

I, Reinaldo, bequeath 0.756 liters of worn out developer to be divided equally among the membership of the Photo Club.

I, "Gandi", wish photography success to David Wang.

I, Stephen Duffy, being of sound mind and body, do leave my god-like intelligence and perfect humility to Bill Ryan in hopes that it might do some good.

I, Joe, bequeath my used oil and smashed police lights to Klopper.

I, Masa, will give my empty coke bottle to M. Wada.

I, Arthur, will share my happiness with others by leaving my versatility and beautiful face to all under classmen.

I, Harry, give my beautiful, powerful, orthodox, lovely, classical, H. D.-sounding CBM 72 II to anyone who wants junk.

I, Yoshio, leave my soccer spirit to the Soccer Team and my respect to Mr. Hackett's teaching technique.

I, Kenji, bequeath my soft, tender, genuine, and sincere personality to our most ironical faculty of 1971.

I, Charles,...NOTHING TO BUTCH.

I, Ronco, not needing these things anymore, divide my mathematical genius equally to be given to Bill Ryan and Dick Klopper, and my proficiency in Pig French and Latin to Barry Gibbon.

I, Steve, will leave my motor-cycle Baffels to Dick Klopper.

I, Johnny, bestow all of my mahjong, guitar and fooling around techniques to Shone Lee, my spotlight skill to Joji Shimizu, and various ways of getting around teachers to George Foster and M. Davis.

I, Rex Nishikawa, will leave the honor of the "Man with Spectacle" to Ming Kuei Chen and dilapidated tennis racket to Shinken Naitoh and ultimately nothing to John Lin.

I, Jacinto, will give all my laundry bills and remaining assests to Soma.

I, George, will leave my 'adidas' bag to Kim for he is the only guy in the Team who doesn't have one. Also, I will bestow my solemness to Peter Inn to share with Ko-chan.

I, Wallace, bequeath all my incredible abilities to school.

I, Edward, will leave my soccer uniform to the Soccer Team.

I,Ton Ton, will leave my spirit to Yukio Hayashi and Karate techniques to the members of the Karate Team.

... NOW!

One who never turned his back but marched breast forward
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed, though right were worsted, wrong would triumph,
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better,
Sleep to wake.

No, at noonday in the bustle of man's work-time
Greet the unseen with a cheer!
Bid him forward, breast and back as either should be,
"Strive and thrive!" cry "Speed,-fight on, fare ever
There as here!"

MAGGIE OUR MASCOT

2001 S. J. C.

The automatic sliding door opens as I step on the doormat, and I walk into the building. A conveyor belt takes me into an elevator, and we start going up. Another school day is about to begin, not unlike, I suppose, the days of my grandfather. Yet I distinctly remember grandfather saying that one had to actually push a door open to get into the school, march in, and walk up some stairs to get to class. I wonder what the classrooms looked like in those days. The chairs probably didn't have as much styrofoam padding as the ones we have now. In fact, I bet they only reclined about 120° instead of a full 180°. The headphones they listened to lectures through probably dind' even have the separate tone and volume controls that ours have.

Life must have been torture for them in the 1970's. Though at that time, primitive as they were, (poor souls) they probably didn't even know. In fact, just the other day grandfather was muttering something about corpsical punishment or something that they had in his grandfather's days. Oh yes! They actually had punishments too, in the 1970's—things called demerits, and suspensions, and restrictions, whatever they were.

One good thing about those days, I bet they didn't have all these cameras and sound devices to keep an eye on students. Besides being an invasion on our privacy, its a ridiculous waste of money. It would be cheaper to put as educational supervising regulator in each room ("teachers" I think they called them in those days).

Well, the music's playing now—time to go to the next class. They're playing Strauss today (imagine having to begin and end classes with a harsh sound, such as-what did they call it?—hard rock—or these "bells" that grandfather mentioned).

Gad! Walking from each class to the conveyor belt gets me tired. Whew! You'd think that the school board would think of more humane conditions for students! These long, tedious, fifteen-minute classes are getting me down too. Imagine—fifteen minutes of concentrated study, only a ten minute break inbetween classes! It's disgusting. (Another good thing about grandfather's days—you could fight against the "teachers", but how can one argue against a machine?)

Five minutes to go until the next class. I might as well go to one of the recreation rooms. I think I'll go to the solar chamber and get some sun. (They should have more rooms like that, you know, with artificial skylights and hypoventilatory effects). In grandfather's days, so he was telling me, one could actually see the sky when the (what was it called?) "weather" was good, and when the wind was blowing!

It's time for the next period now. Let's see,—we have gym. I suppose they'll let the girls have the heated pool again, while we have to use the artificial ocean. It's not fair—sometimes I wish that this Women's Liberation Movement thing had worked out—then we wouldn't have to wash the salt off all the time. (Oh yes! In grandfather's days there were two schools: ours, which was for the boys, and another school for the girls—St. More or something. How strange.)

I'm glad we have gym today—it gives us a chance from the usual 10 o'clock to 12 o'clock school days. Waiting for the monorail four days a week is monotonous. Oh well, its better than having to take one of those crowded trains that grandfather was telling us about. grandfather also had a thing called a "motorcycle"—a two-wheeled object driven by an inefficient combustion engine with a fuel tank which needed constant refilling—how primitive!
